FAITH AND FINANCES with Phil Lenahan

In today's second reading, St. Paul speaks of the distribution of gifts. In marriage, it is wise to assess each other's gifts and use them in complementary ways. When it comes to managing money, work together to set priorities and review progress, but let the person who has the bent for detail manage the day-to-day responsibilities.

A Poem For The Military
Author Unknown

When will you be coming home? I guess soon we will know, but until that day comes, this I can show. I owe you my life, my honor, my thanks, to each and every soldier in every single rank. Just smile for me soldier and know you're not alone, for you have the support from every American back home.

DIVORCED OR SEPARATED CATHOLIC RETREAT EXPERIENCE

February 19 -20, 2010

Fr. Jerry McCarthy, Judicial Vicar of the Diocesan Tribunal, will present helpful information for anyone interested in pursuing a declaration of nullity after a divorce at 7:00 pm on February 19 at the Catholic Pastoral Center, 601 E. Liberty Street, Savannah, GA. This session is free and open to divorced persons, family and friends seeking more understanding of the Catholic process of annulments. Registration is required.

The Family Life Office invites all divorced or separated Catholics to a retreat day at Villa Marie Center on the Isle of Hope in Savannah from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm on February 20. Mass will be celebrated at 4:00 pm in the restored Chapel. Fr. Ronald Gatman, osb and other presenters will provide spiritual guidance for the journey to healing. Cost of the retreat is $25.00 and includes lunch and coffee breaks.

SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Registration forms for both events can be found at www.diosav.org/familylife or by calling (912) 201-4058. There is no housing available at Villa Marie Center and we recommend that if you are coming from a distance you consult the area hotels for rates or call us for suggestions.
